If the rumor mill is correct, Verizon could unveil its version of the iPhone this week. Apple's iPhone was exclusively marketed by AT&T, but that contract is expected to expire this summer. A new model, able to operate on Verizon's CDMA network, could be turned out as early as March for June delivery. At least one Canadian investment banker in a memo last week advised his clients that Asian manufacturers are preparing for mass production of the phone beginning in March. *

Want to start your own business?

A free seminar for job seekers who are considering starting their own business will be held on Thursday, February 11, 6:30 p.m. at The Sacks Group, Inc., 213 North Main Street in St. Charles. The seminar will introduce The Matterhorn Project, a unique new business apprenticeship program.

The Matterhorn Project is a hands-on, day-to-day coaching and education program that enables entrepreneurs to start small businesses while being trained by experts as they learn and earn, according to Dick Sacks, president of The Sacks Group, a small-business consulting firm.

The Matterhorn Project is a new business apprenticeship program designed to help would-be entrepreneurs reduce the length of their learning curve. The first six months of the program are devoted to intensive training and strategic planning, followed by 12 months of actual business operation under the watchful eye of a one-on-one coach.

For more information, and to register for the free informational seminar, visit www.twelvecommandments.biz or call (636) 949-9949.

Seating is limited to the first 20 registrants.
